

"We apologize with our fans if we still can't show the "uncensored" video, but we have no strenght nor power to face any eventual "trouble"

We just want to say, once again, that no one among the persons involved in this project, Amanda and Band included, have ever earned money from the video nor the images described before, and it underlines that the "endless" waiting for this release has been such a sign of respect towards the girl and all the people which the Perugia trial and the 2007 events refer to, in order to preserve their quiet and tranquility through the first months after the appeal ended.

Nevertheless, the artistic damage for the video concept is considerable, and it corrupts the message of freedom and protest, basis of rock n roll, that lives within it; message first wanted, and now totally denied."
